Thinking Out Loud

H. M. L.

We are informed by those who participated in the organization of the Citizens Committee of Five Thousand, that that body is not dead, but sleeping; that while the executive committee with a flourish has pronounced the Citizens Committee defunct, that such is not the case. In other words the executives exceeded their constitutional rights. They have a right to resign themselves as precipitately as they wish, but they cannot speak for the 2000 citizens (more or less) who have enrolled under the banner of industrial peace.

While it may be regarded as unfortunate that the Citizens Committee of Five Thousand organized in the first place, it would be still more so, after all the initial hurrahs, for it to beat such a retreat as the pronunciamento of the executives reveals. The significance of the fact that a large body of home owning and peace loving citizens is standing ready to assist in maintaining peace, should not be lost.

Of course the sheriff has authority at any time of emergency to deputize as many able bodied citizens to assist him, as may be necessary, and while he has not asked for any assistance in advance of untoward events, it is reassuring to know that citizens of the two larger communities of this county are ready when called upon.

The Citizens Patrol, so-called, was clearly the result of rash and unthinking leadership. It is even hinted that it was instituted by disruptive forces, as a straw man to be set up and then knocked over. But whatever its origin, it is well that the Citizens Committee of Five Thousand should disown the baby, and leave it on the first convenient doorstep. It is the business of law abiding citizens to avoid disturbances and not to invite trouble by truculent demeanor.

Whether in or out of the Citizens Committee of Five Thousand, all home owning and peace loving residents of these two communities, will heartily insist upon maintaining the peace. We have a long tradition of an orderly community seldom disturbed by labor and employer disputes. We have been fortunate in the character of our Mine Workers Protective League, and in the character of our mine management. A large proportion, if not a majority of our mine workers own their own homes. They are graduates of our schools, they are fathers of families and tax payers. All of us will rejoice if they are granted an increase in pay.

We feel confident that mine management and ownership would be glad to increase the pay of the miners. However, as has been pointed out in this column before, wages in mining as in all other industries, are the chief cost factor in production. But whereas in steel and other base metals, the cost can be passed on to the consumer, Uncle Sam is the only buyer of gold and he pays $35 per ounce, no more. When wages advance to a point that gold fails to show a profit to the owners, they must close the mines. "Moderation in all things," advised St. Paul. It is as good today as it was 2000 years ago.

Perhaps the knottiest problem confronting mine owners as a group is the fundamental difference in the mines. One property might afford a wage increase which would force another mine to close. One property is being developed while another is paying dividends. This writer has not vaguest notion of whether or not a uniform wage scale for the district could be established. However, this fundamental condition should be recognized by every citizen of the two communities whose prosperity depends upon the mining industry. It would seem as if a sane and reasonable policy would be, tritely expressed, to live and let live.

BRUSH CREEK PROPERTY

A. C. Kingsbury, who has the Brush Creek mine under lease and bond from the Alpha Hardware and Supply company of Nevada City has a crew employed cleaning out and reconditioning the old Ante-Up tunnel. Mining is expected to start about the first of April.

BERT CRASE IS AGAIN MANAGING IDAHO MARYLAND

Through changes in official management at the Idaho Maryland mines at Grass Valley, Bert Crase, who was injured in a mine accident some time ago, has been brought back into duty as superintendent of the property.

Harold F. Lynn who has been superintendent of the Grass Valley property has been made superintendent of the Forbestown interests of the company which lie in Butte county. He went to the property and assumed charge on March 15. In taking this position he becomes one of the youngest managers of large scale mining operations in this country.

Lynn expects by July to have the 300 ton mill, which is idle at present because of poor road conditions into the mines, on a capacity basis.

The new manager is a graduate of the Leland Stanford University. He formerly was connected with the Carson Hill Gold Mines Company and the American Metal Company. His experience has covered the gold, lead, silver, copper and zinc fields.

Lynn came to the Idaho Maryland six years ago. The production of the local mines was 200 tons. He boosted the output of the mines to more than 1,000 tons per day and also managed the Bullion Mine for the Bullion Mining Company.

The Brunswick Mine was opened up for the Idaho Maryland company by Lynn and was put into profitable production with 250 men employed.

Many new safety innovations for this district were introduced by him. He backed the circular shaft experiment conducted at the old Brunswick mine, which has received praise from mining men throughout the world.

Lynn said the principal operations in the near future at the Forbestown properties will be continued production at the Gold Bank and the Oro Mines, where sufficient ore reserves are in sight.

NEVADA CITY BOYS VISIT IN NEW YORK

Relatives and friends in Nevada City have received several letters from Robert Tucker and Henry Toccalini, who left here March second for Wanakena, New York state where they will enter the forest department of the New York university. The boys spent several days in New York. They called on Attorney Carroll Searls and Miss Margaret Rector. Mr. Searls entertained them at a dinner and they had quite a visit with him. Sunday the two young men went to West Point to visit their classmate of Nevada City high school days. "Buz" Chapman. They were due at the university Thursday.

FOOTE'S FLOWER SHOP INSTALLS FRIGIDAIRE

Foote's Floral shop in Hills Flat has just installed a big walk-in Frigidaire and equipment for keeping flowers in the best possible condition. Cliff DeBerry did the installing. The walk-in feature facilitates inspection and selection. The Frigidaire is beautifully equipped and the Footes are greatly pleased with it.

DEAF GIRLS GUESTS AT CAMP CELIO

Ten Campfire Girls and four teachers from the State School for the Deaf spent the week end at Camp Celio. Some were deaf and dumb. It was their first visit in this part of the state. Mr. Manly took them to play in the snow two different times. Some of them had never seen snow before. They returned to the school Sunday afternoon. There are about 250 in the shhool from all over the state.

RECENT STORM PILES UP TWO FEET AT JUNCTION

The snow flurries of Wednesday and Thursday brought considerable new snow, there was two feet at the junction Thursday morning, two plows were immediately put to work by district highway superintendent, Fred Garrison and the road is cleared.

Fourteen inches of snow covered the Downieville highway in spots Thursday but did not impede traffic when chains were used.

TAME BEAR DOES HIS STUFF SCARES KIDDIES

Adults and kiddies had a lot of fun watching a big, heavily muzzled, shaggy brown bear dance on the sidewalks in the business district of Nevada City Wednesday. The young chap with this bruin played a tamborine and the big creature was fullly five and a half feet tall when he stood erect. He stood up to dance, went down on all four feet for shuffles or even shimmied as his master played different tones on the musical instrument.

Spectators at the Union Ice company plant were almost helpless with laughter when they beheld a group of little children coming down Main street from school, getting first glimpse of the bear. They were inquisitive yet fearful. When the bear was led across the street to the car on the Standard Oil station lot the children fled like little rabbits in all directions one dropping his lunch bucket in the driveway and was too scared to return for it.

They dashed around behind the station to peer out, but three others less fortunate crouched under one of the tiny newly planted evergreens on the driveway with eyes popping almost out of their heads.

The man placed the bear in the back seat of his sedan and it laid down comfortably ready to continue its journey to the next town.

JAMES E. NUGENT SELLS SIERRA VALLEY NEWS

James E. Nugent, for the past seven years, publisher of The Sierra Valley News, this week disposed of the business to F. E. Rogers, who is now in charge.

During his time in Loyalton Mr. Nugent made friends of everyone and was at all times a booster for the Valley. Friends regret that he is disposing of his business and leaving the city.

The new publisher comes from South Dakota, where he had been engaged in publishing newspapers for the past fifteen years.

The first of January, he disposed of his paper at Martin, South Dakota and with Mrs. Rogers and son, Bert Joseph, came west but found nothing in southern California. After investigating the Sierra Valley News he decided to buy and with his family locate there.

Miners Employed in County Total 2,609

There was a slight increase in the number of men employed in Nevada County mines during the past month, even though several of the smaller properties, such as the Ragon, Deer Creek Union, and Valley Gold Mines were closed temporarily for various reasons. The increases in employment were in the larger properties such as the Empire Star and Zeibright, which each added about thirty men to their pay rolls The Queen Lil mill under the management of Hal Draper went into action again with four men employed and plenty of custom ore in sight for some time to come. The chief contributor of custom ore will be the Giant King mine upon which several excellent reports have recently been made.

The following reports have been received of mining activity in the county:

VALLEY MINES

Principal work at the Valley Mines property in the Willow Valley district east of Nevada City is continued repair of the equipment and buildings. The men are firing pipe lines, repairing roofs and working on the road. Snow is still quite deep at the property. Thomas Cole and associates are developing this mine.

GASTON MINE

In the last few days reports have come in that the Gaston property, northeast of Washington has been sold under bond and lease. The representatives in the local field stated work would start as early as possible in the spring. This property was worked in early days and reopened several years ago by Mr. Otto E. Schiffner of this city. Much hard work and considerable expense was undergone in reconditioning the property. Lack of electricity and two or three dry seasons were the principal reason for the property closing down. The equipment formerly used water power.

YELLOW DIAMOND

Operations were resumed at the Yellow Diamond mine, west of Nevada City on the Downieville highway, last Monday after a seven months shutdown. Six men are employed. The property is owned by O. Gruenwald of Sacramento A heavy flow of water stopped operations in the 90 foot shaft and when un-watering is completed it is state a 200 foot ore shoot will be developed.

SIERRA BUTTES MINE

A crew of seven are employed at the Sierra Buttes mine at Sierra City. It has been in operation all winter. This mine was first operated by Mexicans in early days and was being mined when the first white settlers came to the west.

QUEEN LIL CUSTOM MILL

H. D. Draper, local assayer, started operations at his Queen Lil custom mill at Nevada City Wednesday. A test run of 50 tons is being made. Trucks will start delivery of the ore, contracted from the Giant King mine at Washington, next week. Four men are working in the mill which will handle between 25 and 35 tons of ore per day depending on the rock.

DAISY BLUE PROPERTY

As soon as the power line right of way is completed to the Daisy Blue property, northwest of Nevada City, active operation will start. John Marks and J. P. Muscardini of this city are interested in the property.

SHOVEL PLACERS

The Shovel Placers being operated by Bigelow and Dudley at Columbia Hill is expected to resume operations shortly. Cold weather and heavy snow brought a temporary closing. A broken caterpillar head and the freezing pipes will prove quite an added expense to the operators.

It Might Work in Heaven

Those half dozen bills in the legislature proposing to repeal the law of supply and demand, that is to fix by statute the prices of eggs and milk and other foods products, suggest an idea.

How about a measure repealing some of the economic laws that keep newspaper publishers on their toes? It hadn't occurred to us that such was possible, but if it is—well, here's the proposal.

Be it hereby commanded, by law, that all newspapers retail at ten cents a copy; that everyone take five-year subscriptions to all newspapers in his community; that the price of newsprint be cut in half; that all advertising rates be $2 a column inch; that all merchants place a three-column six-inch ad in each issue of every home newspaper and at least a dozen full-page advertisements each year! Most newspapermen suspect that there is such a law in heaven, where all things are possible.

But here on earth the public and the merchant and the newsprint vendor might not like it very well. And there, in exaggerated outline, you have the nub of the fallacy in this price-fixing-by-law idea.

A state official with the power to fix prices would be subject to pressure from all sides. Even if he could ignore this, and enforce his "commands," it would be humanly impossible to grasp the multitude of factors entering into the consideration of a "fair" price for any product. Laws of economics, like the laws of nature, defy man's efforts to repeal them.

But don't be surprised if you hear next that someone has introduced a law commanding the sun to stand still, or the waves to cease pounding upon the sea shore.—Contributed.

It's An Earthquake

In the middle of one recent night, mother Earth shook herself slightly to adjust her cloak of outer crust and sent a quiver running along the Hayward fault line paralleling the eastern shore of San Francisco bay.

Residents of the region phoned the police and said, "It's an earthquake, what shall we do?" Calmly the police advised they go back to bed.

That's all there was to it. As many an old timer opined, "it wasn't such great shakes" as a temblor.

But some of those folks who had gone back to bed had a question in their minds. How had the bridges stood the shake? How had those two new magnificent structures of steel and concrete taken the jar? In the morning they read their papers and were reassured. The bridges had swayed a bit. But they had weathered their first earthquake.

Could an earthquake shake down those mammoth spans? A little checking revealed some interesting things. Officially it is a possibility, since the bridges are insured against earthquakes. Also these spans, like others in the earthquake sector, pay considerably higher insurance rates than those in the east, the bay bridge figure being $1.60 per $100.

And recently the point came up in discussions of what to do about the ferry boats, when an expert suggested that the bay area keep them on hand as emergency lifelines, just in case.

These two biggest bridges in the world are the sturdiest things of their kind ever built. Probabilities are they'll stand solidly through the 100 years that engineers say the cables and roadways will last.

But the possibilities remind us that even the mightiest works of man can be made to bow to the infinitely more mighty powers of nature.—Contributed.

Most congressmen are interested in "pickings" rather than "packings," court or no court.

FARM LABOR IS ORGANIZED BY COMMUNISTS

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

Annonuncement is made that final plans for organization of the Agricultural Workers' Union of California, a proposed state wide union of farm labor, will be submitted to the executive council of the California State Federation of Labor at Sacramento on March 21.

Foredoomed to failure, if the outcome of previous efforts to organize farm labor may be accepted as a criterion, the movement is nonetheless of vital concern to California agriculture, for it is almost certain to foment labor disturbances during the coming harvest season.

And California farmers, after the bitter battle with depression, are in urgent need of a period of undisturbed production, and profitable marketing of their crops, if agriculture is to win back a fair measure of solvency.

The history of previous attempts to unionize farm workers is an unhappy record of "direct action"; unreasoning class hatreds, fostered by unprincipled agitators; wage losses and bitter disappointment for the workers and terrific crop losses for the farmer. Invariably, Communists and radicals have wrested control of the unions from bona fide labor organizations, with disastrous results for everyone concerned. And invariably, the unions have finally collapsed, both in California and througohut the nation.

The handiwork of Communist organizers shows up even in the preliminary stages of the present movement, as evidenced by the resolutions adopted at the recent two-day conference, held in San Francisco to map plans for the farm union program.

The resolutions, for example—instead of considering ways and means of bettering conditions or income for either farm labor or the farmer—were as follows:

1. Fraternal greetings to Mooney and Billings, the San Francisco Preparedness Day bombers.
2. Expressions of sympathy to the recently convicted East Bay ship murderers.
3. Greetings and sympathy to the Modesto dynamite prisoners.
4. Recommendations that the state criminal syndicalesm act be repealed.
5. Recommendation that all anti-picketing ordinances be repealed and that state police be prohibited from keeping order during labor disputes.

If the farm labor movement is to be ushered in by resolutions extending "fraternal greetings" to convicted dynamiters and murderers, there can be little doubt as to the sponsorship of the movement. The hand of the Communist and revolutionary, bent on stirring up class warfare as a preliminary move toward the overthrow of American government, is all too evident. To both farm worker and farmer, it is a forbidding prospect!

Farmers, who are also workers—and who work more hours, in most instances, than any of the members of organized labor—have a friendly interest in the welfare of all workers, born of their own experience. They likewise appreciate that as wages and standards of living improve for workers, the demand for farm produce will improve, helping the farmer to get on firmer ground. And California farmers, for years past, have consistently paid the highest farm wages in the United States. When wages have been low, the farmer's income, in most instances, was just as low—and often lower!

California, if it is to regain any measure of security and prosperity, needs to go to work, rather than to go on strike. It needs rationalism, rather than radicalism. It is to be hoped that the responsible leaders in organized labor will do their utmost to re-win control of their own organization and weed out the radicals who are apparently bent on exploiting California farm workers for their own selfish ends.

STATE PAYROLL IS $2,639,209 EACH MONTH

SACRAMENTO, March 18.—Men outnumber women three to one as California state employees, according to figures released yesterday by William Brownrigg, executive officer of the state personnel board. There are 14,916 men and 5,391 women employed by the California state government. These figures do not include persons mployed by the University of California, the State Relief Administration, the Superior Courts, or the State Legislature, according to Brownrigg.

Of this total of 20,307 state employees, 17,652 hold full time positions, 1,877 are doing part time work and 778 work on a seasonal basis.

One sixth of the state employees or 3,500 are war veterans. Under the civil service law, veterans of any of the wars in which the United States has participated are given preference in the establishment of final grades after they have passed th examination for a position.

A total monthly payroll of $2,639,209 is required to pay those state employees each month. An additional $147,397 is required each month to pay for maintenance of employees working in state institutions, the cost of this maintenance being deducted from the cash salaries of the individual employees. When this payroll is divided up among the employees, the average full time civil service employee receives a monthly salary of less than $130. Many of the full time salaries are as low as $70 a month, according to the records of the state personnel board. Through contributions for specific kinds of work, the federal government and private funds together pay either all or part of the salaries of 133 state employees.

Sacramento Chamber of Commerce

SACRAMENTO, March 18.—Supervisors of the 16 counties of the Golden Empire invited by the Sacramento County Supervisors sat down to a breakfast yesterday morning in Hotel Senator to discuss plans for the Golden Empire exhibit in the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition at San Francisco. The supervisors will be in Sacramento to attend the three day statewide convention of supervisors, that opened Wednesday.

A struggle between Northern and Southern California supervisors over proposed relief legislation is forecast. Northern supervisors are opposed to a proposal backed by the southern counties to consolidate county direct relief and SRA programs and pro-rate the cost between counties and the state.

Better times and improved public attitude are bringing more and larger 1936 income tax returns to the state. Total payments will reach $12,250,000, a 10 per cent gain over taxes paid for 1935 incomes.

A. J. Clausen of Berkeley has submitted a low bid of $24,966.82 for the construction of numerous projects for the government cafp on the Friant division of the Central Valleys project. Other bidders and their estimates are: John Jurkovich of Fresno, $37,143; P. L. Burr of San Francisco, $30,871; Macco and Robinson, Ltd., of Clearwater, Calif., $42,462; Frederickson and Watson Construction Company ow Oakland, $25,694; W. J. Tobin of Oakland, $29,300; and Leo F. Piazza of San Jose, $34,291.

Sacramento wholesale firms serve 1,500,000 persons in Northern California, Southern Oregon and Nevada, an increase of 50 per cent since 1930 W. G. Stone, manager of the industrial department of the Sacramento Chamber of Commerce said this week in announcing a statistical survey of the 1936 United States business census.

Congressman Frank H. Buck has proposed to amend the interstate commerce act to free shippers of fresh fruits and vegetables from liability where a railroad, contrary to the shipper's instructions, extends unwarranted credit to consignees.

Robert Muckler, Southern California banker, is making hurried plans to present to the board of directors of the California State Fair. He received his appointment as secretary of the exposition late last week. Muckler said, "I think I have been given a marvelous opportunity to make this the greatest fair in the United States. California's great agricultural history, her vast natural resources, her superiority in livestock and her magnificent industrial growth provide more than ample material with which to make a spectacular expositio year after year."

The Golden Gate Bridge Fiesta committee is looking for a queen to reign over its festivities May 27-June 2 at San Francisco. The contest will be open to young women 16 or over from 17 northern California counties. The contestant receiving the highest number of votes will be fiesta queen but each county will have its own queen as an attendant of the winner.

Major Arthur W. Parker, construction quartermaster of the $7,000,000 Sacramento Army Air Repair Depot, announced that construction of the largest single unit of the depot will be started within 30 days. Major Parker's announcement followed notice from Washington awarding the contract to the McDonald and Kahn Construction company of San Francisco. The company's low bid was $$1,583,251, and calls for completion of the unit within 500 days.

40 Workers Signed and Sent This Letter

To the Editors of the Principal Papers in Alameda Co.

Alameda, California
March 10, 1937.

To the Editor:

In some newspapers have appeared articles calling us "scabs." A "scab" is a fellow who takes the job of a man on strike, which we are not doing. Newspapers would not call us that name if they knew the facts.

We held a meeting and determined to visit the editors to give them the facts. Then we thought you would not like fifty men coming in on you. What to do? A good many workers are pretty well educated these days. We decided to put the facts in a letter and send it to you. Here they are:

About sixty men have worked regularly an average of over five years at the Cal. Pack. warehouse on Buena Vista Ave., Alameda. The longest service among us is fourteen years, the shortest two years.

Last November, many of us were told by men we did not know to join the I. L. A. Warehousemen's Union. The only reason given was that we would get beaten if we did not.

On our own hook, we made inquiries about the union. We found the initiation fee is ten dollars, the dues two dollars monthly. There are no sick benefits, no insurance or other protection, except you won't be beaten.

We found if you join this union, you go to work only through a Hiring Hall. You don't earn a job by good, steady work and keep it, as we have. You work or don't work, according to a dispatching system, operated by a union officer.

Even if we joined the Union under threat, you can see where our jobs at Cal. Pack. would go. The Hiring Hall would give them to others. We would pay ten dollars down and two dollars a month to lose our good jobs which we have had for many years. Not us.

For months, now, this Union has had from ten to several hundred men threatening us with violence. They gather in crowds and throw rocks at us and at our cars as we come to work and go home. They chase after us in old autos and try to turn over our cars. They go to our homes when we are at work and tell our wives and children that terrible things will happen to them and to us. Some of us have been injured.

We can't see joining a Union that treats us that way. We think it must be pretty bad inside.

Now that you have the facts, we ask you, Mr. Editor, who are the "scabs"?

Sometimes we think that what this country needs is some good labor unions. We would be interested in one.

Yours truly,

Signed by forty employees at the warehouse, including the following who sponsor this advertisement:

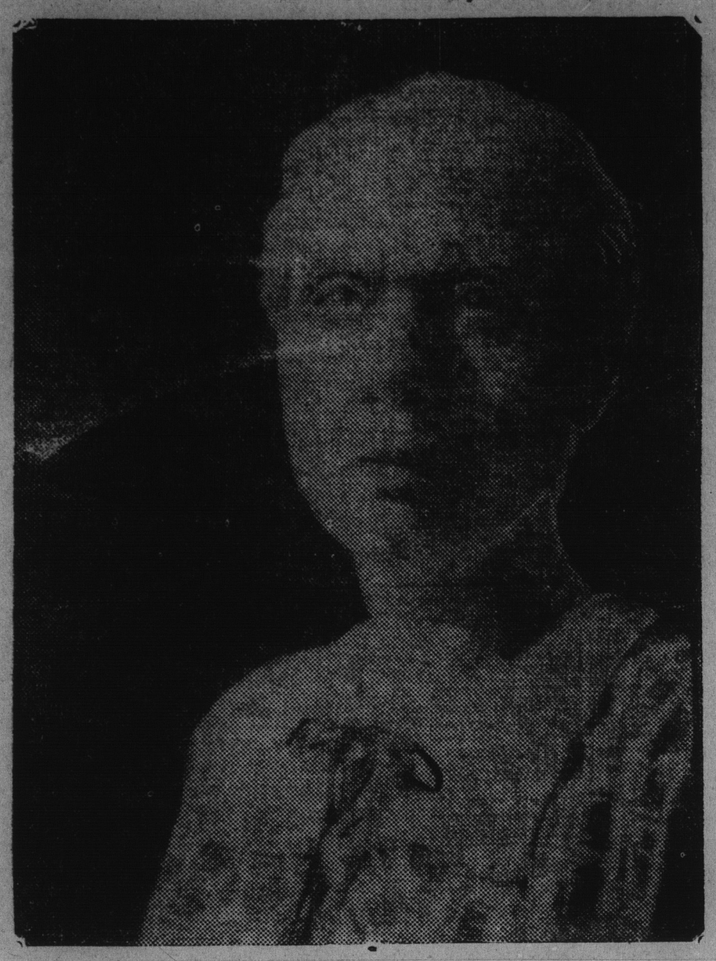
She Writes for the Nugget



This is copper engraving of Mrs. Katherine Braithwaite, correspondent of the Nevada City Nugget in French Corral, and North San Juan. The engraving was made by E. G. Petsche, of North San Juan ,in a plant which he has perfected in his leisure time.

One of the live news stories written by Mrs. Braithwaite, recentnly published by the Nevada City Nugget is that concerning the sluicing of the ruins of an old bank building in North San Juan, which handled hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of "dust" in the early days of placer mining on the Ridge. Two young men obtained permission to wash out the debris under the floors and in the walls of this ancient building. The operation attracted statewide attention and Mrs. Braithwaite's story was carried by the United Press and he Associated Press. Mrs. Braithwaite will speak before a Marysville service club in April on this topic. Mining editors and reporters from valley newspapers have visited the scene to watch the two placer mine partners, Louis Guy and Bob Stebbins, carry on their sluicing operations.

CAMPS BUILDING FOR MIGRATORY FARM LABOR

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—The Resettlement Administration today reported progress on construction of projects in California and Arizona.

Building of four additional camps for migratory agricultural laborers is going forward at Brawley, Imperial County; Coachella, Riverside County; Shafter, Kern County; and Winters, Yolo County.

Capacity of the present camp at Marysville is being doubled to care for 200 families. Adjoining the camp near Arvin in southern Kern County, 20 inexpensive homes for agricultural laborers are being built.

Camp improvements consist of tent platforms, utility units with showers and facilities for washing clothes; administration buildings, warehouses and managers' homes; isolation wards, child clinics, graded streets, recreation grounds.

PALESTINE MAN OF 100,000 YEARS AGO IS STUDIED

PHILADELPHIA, March 18.—Three youthful scientists, two men and a woman, brought to the United States today a new picture of the ancestry of the human race, a more dignified origin than anything previously shown in the records of evolution.

They reported the finding of a tall man who lived in Palestine perhaps 100,000 years ago, who had a brain larger than today's average. They exhibited the skull cap of a 2 year old baby which lived in Java half a million years ago. They reported discovery of a wholly new race of men who were head hunting cannibals more or less contemporary with the big brained Palestine man.

These reports were made at the international symposium on early man, the first of its kind, held by the Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia celebrating its 125th anniversary.

Java, China, Africa, Europe and America were represented by delegates. Dr. John C. Merriam, president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington presided.

Blond, slender, 29 year old Theodore D. McCown, assistant to Sir Arthur Keith, famous English scientist reported the big brained Palestine man.

The skeletons of two of these men were found near Mount Carmel. They were about six feet tall. They are called the skuhl (pronounced school) men. McCown said Sir Arthur judges them true "homo sapiens," and possible ancestors of modern Europeans.

From Bandieng, Java, came G. H. R. Von Koenigswald and his wife with a cast of a baby skull, fossils of a new race of men and formidable stone axes.

They left the original skulls in a safe in Bandoeng.

The baby skull was found last year. Von Koesniswald said it may be the oldest human fossil. The skull is as long, he said, as that of a present day 2 year old, but not as high.

He showed 11 skulls of the new race, men with flat backed heads, found near the Solo river, Java. These skulls were broken, he said, in the same way that modern Fiji island cannibals broke the heads of their victims to get the brains. He estimated the 11 were killed about 50,000 years ago.

WHAT PRICE GOLD?

By BERT B. BREWSTER
In the Mining and Contracting Review.

Enthusiasm over thirty five dollar gold has dimmed the problems that beset gold producers before the pegging of its price The details relative to its changed price are also forgotten in many places. Too many attribute $35 gold to the personal whim of President Roosevelt.

Let's look at the record.

Early in 1932 the World price of gold advanced until it reached $30 per ounce and taking into account differences in exchange and advantages of certain foreign producers, there was but one course open, that is, one course to those who believe in changing fundamentals to meet temporary conditions.

Those of us who sold our Homestake before the day $35 gold are inclined to consign ourselves to that place reserved for fools.

The milk has been spilled, so let us analyze our debacle and the gold situation in general.

Cost of gold production throughout the world, subconsciously known when bluntly brought to one's attention surprises a far greater number of people than one would suppose.

The old price of gold was $20.67 per ounce.

Ask anyone how many producers could make any profit today at the old price and the answer will be surprising. Ninety per cent have not the slightest idea.

Let's look at the record.

Only 16 out of 102 listed large-scale gold producers throughout the world produced gold for less than $26.67 per ounce in 1934-35.

What of the United States and Alaska. We are considering lode mining, and eleven large producers.

Not even Homestake! Total cost of production with all charges at Homestake in 1934 was $20.80 per ounce, or thirteen cents per ounce more than the old world price.

Alaska-Juneau? Despite Alaska-Juneau's unequalled mining cost of fifty six cents per ton in 1934 on ore giving but 0.0298 ounces per ton, teatment and charges brought total cost up to $21.31 per ounce of gold. If lead and silver are credited the cost drops to $20.39, making it the only lode mining in our possession to come below $20.67.

Floorwalker (at 2 a. m. to burglar in his home): Silverware? Yes, sir, Step this way please.

"ONE IN A MILLION" IS SMASH MUSICAL HIT

With Sonja Henie, Queen of the Silvery Skates, executing dazzling dances on crystal ice and romancing with Don Ameche, Adolphe Menjou pulling another hilarious performance out his gag-bag, Jean Hersholt more lovable than ever, Ned Sparks dead-panning his way to new laugh highs, the Ritz Brothers running amusingly amok, Arline Judge cute, capitivating and comical, Borrah Minevitch and his gang playing hot rhythms on their harmonicas, and Dixie Dunbar, Lea Ray and Shirley Deane contributing beauty and hi-de-ho, "One in a Million," the Twentieth Century Fox spectacula musical smash, comes Sunday to the Nevada Theatre.

Set in a brilliant new world of delirious new thrills, "One in a Million" tells a story of love burning as sun on snow sprinkled with run, roaring as an open fire, with songs you'll remember as the year's song hits.

The plot of sparkling Sonja's first screen triumph has to do with a troupe of American entertainers including the Ritz Brothers, Arline Judge, Borrah Minevitch, Dixie Dunbar and Leah Ray, in straightened circumstances, who are traveling Europe under the wing of their ebullient manager, Tad Spencer (Adolphe Menjou).

The troupe arrives at a Swiss resort, where they were to have put on a performance, but find that the hotel has burned down. Installing his flock instead at a little lodging house, Menjou discovers a marvelously gifted amateur ice skater in the person of beautiful, little Greta, the innkeeper's daughter (Sonja Henie) who is being trained by her father (Jean Hersholt) to win the Olympic figure skating championship, which he once held, but which was taken from him on false charges of professionalism.

Amid plot complications during which Menjou nearly ruins Hersholt and Sonja's hopes by attempting to put her in a professional skating exhibition, Sonja finds occasions to give stunning examples of her genius as a dancer on ice and of the stellar quality of her acting.

Finally, through the help of a young American newspaperman (Don Ameche), who has fallen in love with her, Sonja is saved from the taint of professionalism and wins the Olympic championship.

It's exhilaratingly new and excitingly different screen entertainment with the cast, the songs, the laughs, the girl and the thrill in a million.

Darryl F. Zanuck, Twentieth Century Fox Production Chief, selected Sidney Lanfield to direct with Raymond Griffith associate producer. Leonard Praskins and Mark Kelly wrote the story and screen play and Lew Pollack and Sidney D. Mitchell composed the music and lyrics of the picture's song hits. The skating ensembles were staged by Jack Haskell.

From Aunt Sarah

Here is another of those easy to prepare "all in one" dinner dishes. It might be labeled a six layer dinner.

Casserole Dinner

One cup rice (cooked). Two cups potatoes. One can tomatoes. One-half cup celery. Green pepper. Two cups meat. 1-2 pork sausage or cooked hamburger; 2-3 ground beef. One onion.

Arrange in a casserole, first the rice, then ground meat, raw potatoes, sliced onions, tomatoes, chopped celery and green pepper. Season each layer with salt and pepper. Dot the layer of tomatoes with pieces of butter and top with green pepper, Bake in hot oven (400° F.) for one hour.

An Irishman, a Sotchman and a Hebrew were having lunch. When they had finished the Irishman said: "And who'll pay the check?"

"Hoot, mon! I will," says the Scotchman.

Well, next day the Irishman was reading his newspaper and his eye stopped at this headline: "Jewish Ventriloquest Slain by Scotchman!"

Wife: How do you like the potato salad?

Hubby: It's delicious—did you buy it yourself?

The buxom woman was standing in the street car holding to a strap. The grouchy looking man was seated, reading. The car swung and she stepped on his foot.

"Madam," he barked, "will you please get off my foot?"

"Put your foot where it belongs," she replied sharply.

"Don't tempt me, madam; don't tempt me," he muttered.

"Which way was I walking when I met you."

"Why, Professor, you were going north."

"Ah!" said the Prof. "Then I've had lunch."

"Now, my son," said his fond mother as the boy was leaving to join the navy, "remember to be punctual in rising evry morning so you will not keep the captain waiting breakfast for you."

Six year old Mary awoke about 2 a. m. "Tell me a story, Mama," she pleaded.

"Hush, darling," said mother, "Daddy will be home soon and tell us both one."

Kind Old Lady: Little boy, don't you know you shouldn't smoke cigars?

Boy (puffing on stogie): "Well, ye see, lady, cigarettes is detrimental to me health."

"My wife has been gone a month".

"What, a month?"

"Yeah, what a month?"

ILLICIT LIQUOR RACKET IN FULL SWING AGAIN

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—Big time bootleg rackets, temporarily thrown out of joint by changing conditions following repeal are in high gear again, according to statements by beverage control officials and executives of the liquor industry, compiled by the National Voice News Bureau.

Estimates of the nation's consumption of bootleg liquor run as high as 50 per cent of the total consumed, according to an article in the January issue of West Coast Brewer, quoting Louis J. Gilbert, of the California Distilled Spirits Institute.

"From rather reliable sources," says the Chicago Beverage Dealer, liquor publication, "come estimates that approximately one-third of the liquor sold in the United States is still bootleg. On the other hand we are given to understand that there is very little attempt made to dispose of the illicit liquor direct to the consumer. This can mean only that a goodly share of the goods sold through legally licensed packaged outlets and served over the bars of legally licensed outlets is spurious."

"With the federal tax at $2," says George M. Stout, California liquor administrator, "and the state tax of 80c a gallon, there is $2.80 in taxes per gallon on distilled spirits that the bootlegger dodges on a product that costs 25c to produce. What outlaw would not be interested in 1122 per cent ad valorem regardless of risk."

The United States News, published in Washington, D. C., recently commented: "With repeal, it was hoped the bootleg would go, but Uncle Sam's battle to put him out of business continues on an enlarged scale with increased federal forces thrown into the fray."

In a recent issue, Business Week commented: "Despite claims from Washington that bootlegging has diminished to "a mere trickle," realists estimate that 40 per cent of the national consumption is still from illicit sources."

Calling attention to the prevalence of bootlegging, W. H. Stayton, executive director of Repeal Associates and former head of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment recently issued an appeal to 75 dry organizations to cooperate "in helping to get rid of bootlegging and the crime it supports."

In reply, Miss Ethel Hubler, publisher of a national dry organ, declared: "The wet organizations faithfully promised that repeal would eliminate the big scale bootleg racketeers. This pledge has been broken. An increasing number of huge illicit alcohol rings are being exposed in the various states. Bootleggers are operating on a bigger scale today, and with far greater safety than during prohibition."

SUNRISE SERVICE AT AIRPORT EASTER MORN

Easter Sunday falls on March 28, and there will be the usual early morning observance of the day at the big white cross near the Nevada City airport.

Edward C. Uren has been appointed by Fred E. Conner of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce to be chairman of the committee which will prepare the program, which will be anounced later.

Louis Morrison released from jail Wednesday after serving a sentence for disturbing the peace in Grass Valley, was back again yesterday charged with drunken driving. His arrignment will probably take place today.

EMPLOYERS ON STATE REGISTER TOTAL 18,488

SACRAMENTO, March 18.—California has a total of 18,488 employers now registered as subject to the Unemployment Reserves Act, A. G. Motsch, Chief, Division of Unemployment Reserves, announced today.

Motsch states further that the latest count of employees under the above subject employers numbers 1,258,166. Unemployment benefits will start January 1, 1938, when eligible employees will receive from seven to fifteen dollars per week for from 13 to 20 weeks if they are out of work.

"The subject employer group, which this year pays 1.8 per cent of its total payroll as a contribution to the unemployment fund, has grown by leaps and bounds," Motsch declared.

"In May, 1936, when the first count of employers was made, we had only 14,650 concerns on record from which we expected contributions.

"The increase of nearly 4,000 in less than a year reveals not only improved business conditions throughout California, but also indicates employers accept provisions of the act, and are cooperating with the Unemployment Reserves Commission."

Nevada county had 29 employers, and 1,070 employees registered, according to the survey made by the Unemployment Reserves Division of the Commission.

FINGERPRINTING FOR LIQUOR DEALERS GAINS

LOS ANGELES, March 18.—Liquor control boards in a number of states responded quickly this week to a nationwide campaign for compulsory fingerprinting of all persons engaged in the sale of intoxicants, motivated by the fact that more than 1200 men and women with police records have just been discovered among liquor license applicants in southern California as a result of this method of identification.

In New Jersey, all state licenses and their employes have been finger printed for the last two years.

A similar proposal is being considered at the current meetings of state beverage commissions in Illinois, Colorado, Nebraska, Vermont and several other states.

INGELS' SAFETY PLAN EXCORIATED BY AUTO. ASSN.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—Declaring that Ray Ingels, director of the Department of Motor Vehicles is fostering a legislative program which "soaks the motorist," the California State Automobile Association in a statement today took sharp issue with Ingels over various measures presented to the legislature at his instigation.

The statement affirmed many of the points in the recent report by a sperial committee of the assembly critizing administration of the Motor Vehirle Department. The association declared that "the committee is to be commended for making such a constructive report to the legislature."

The association announced opposition to fingerprinting of motorists, restoration of speed traps, compulsory inspection of motor vehicles for a fee, forcing visiting motorists to take out California registration, a large increase in funds for the Department, and other proposals sponsored by Ingels.

The statement of the association, with a membership of 70,000 motorists, said in part:

"Judging from the number and character of measures introduced at the instance of the Department of Motor Vehicles, that agency of the state government seems determined to 'soak' the motoring public to the limit and to impose hardships and restrictions which have only the feeblest justification, if any at all.

"The most constructive things to increase safety on streets and highways is to get the highway patrol officers on actual patrol duty and to make a thorough analysis of the causes of traffic accidents, which the department has thus far failed to do."

The various proposals of the department and the association's comments on each follow:

Fingerprinting all applicants for drivers' licenses: "An elaborate and expensive system, the initial cost of which would be $1,000,000. Fees for the procedure would make an additional levy of hundreds of thousands of dollars a year on motorists. The department has offered no proof that fingerpriting motorists as a class would have any effect on the accident problem." The Automobile Association takes no issue with universal fingerprinting, but does oppose singling out the motorist as the department plan proposes.

Compulsory semi-annual inspection of motor vehicles: "Fees which car owners would be required to pay for such inspection would add another annual charge of $2,500,000. The Assembly Interim Committee investigated the experience of other states with such a plan and declared it to be 'a commercial racket, costly to the motoring public without being effective in reduction of traffic accidents. "

Speed traps: "A proposal to restore in modified form the old speed trap system. The Interim Committee declared that 'to reinstate speed traps indicates a lack of fundamental knowledge of the causes and circumstances of traffic accidents' and that 'it would seem appropriate that officers devote more attention to reckless and hazardous operation of motor vehicles.' "

Chauffeurs' licenses for all commercial vehicle operators: "This would mean that every farmer or other person who operates his own vehicle in pursuit of his livelihood would be required to pay $1 a year for a chauffeur's license, adding still further to the total sum exacted from motor vehicle owners."

Requiring California registration for out of state vehicles: "California has always welcomed visiting motorists and has benefitted enormously from motor tourist travel. Yet this measure would make these visitors pay not less than $3,000,000 a year for the opportunity to spend their money here."

Increased funds for the Department: "The proposed increase from 35 per cent to 57 per cent as the department's share of registration fees would mean an increase of not less than $3,500,000 a year. That sum would come out of the shares now going to the counties and Department of Public Works and thereby curtail needed highway improvements. The department already derives increasing funds in pace with growth of registrations."

Increase of 500 in highway patrol personnel: "More patrolmen can only be justified if more men actually are placed on highway patrol duty. Out of a present force of 714 the daily average actually patrolling the highways has been only 120 men during the past year. The remainder are used for tax collecting and other duties unrelated to the primary purpose of the patrol, enforcement of traffic laws. And the motoring public pays the bill."

"Representatives of the department," the statement concluded, "sat last year with civic and other groups meeting as members of the Advisory Committee to the Assembly Motor Vehicle Interim Committee.

"Most of this legislation which the director of the department has had introduced was thoroughly considered at those conferences and flatly rejected as ill-advised and unnecessary."

THREE BILLS IN LEGISLATURE ON COMPENSATION

There have been introduced into the California Legislature, three companion bills affecting the present Workmen's Compensation Insurance laws. These bills do not in any manner touch upon the benefits to be paid to injured employees, but seek to attain a more equitable and workable foundation for premium rates to be paid by California industry.

There are, of course, a number of bills introduced into the legislature dealing with various phases of the Workmen's Compensation Insurance problem, but these three particular bills to which I refer, constitute a consolidated plan divided into three natural steps. These bills were introduced by the Hon. Seth Millington, assemblyman from Gridley. The numbers of the assembly bills are 2243, 2242 and 2244.

A. B. 2243 would make it mandatory upon the Carriers of Workmen's Compensation Inrusance in California, to file annual statements with the Commissioner of Insurance containing information necessary to form an open understanding of the elements that go into the makeup of premiums, and to have such information available to the public. At the present time such information seems to be quite incomplete, and those who have to pay the present high premium rates, are unable to learn why. It would seem that no reasonable objection to this bill could be made.

A B 2242 aims to bring about changes in the present law so that employers may be certain they can get Compensation Insurance in California, such as the law requires, and further, that they will be able to know from, established schedules, exactly what the advance deposit and cost will be to secure the issuance of a Compensation Insurance Policy. This bill also provides that policies issued by the State Compensation Insurance Fund may not be cancelled peremptorily. but that a hearing shall first be held, a record kept, and a written decision rendered.

In connection with this bill, it must be remembered that applicants for Compensation Insurance who might become unreasonable insurance hazards, are, as employers, already under control of the State Industrial Accident Commission, which is authorized to suspend operations in California where there is not a compliance with established Safety Orders and practices.

A B. 2244 is designed to bring about a method of computing premium rates for the various industrial classifications in California, based upon the actual cost experience of the State Compensation Insurance Fund.

Inasmuch as the State Fund has a complete experience already, the matter of establishing premium rates becomes, more or less, one of arithmetic. In order to provide for expense of administration of such insurance to be issued by the State Fund, an allowance of 15 per cent over and above the cost rate, is allowed. This allowance is actually more than the State Fund experience shows to be necessary.

This Bill also requires that returns of overcharges (dividends) on premiums shall be made uniformly within the various industrial classifications, and that a system of credits be established for safety practices and savings effected by individual employers. This all means that each industrial classification in this state shall be given the benefit of a general savings incident to constantly improving safety practices, and that within each industrial classification, individual employers may, themselves, secure extremely low rates by proper practices and observance of safety principles, freed from the present unreasonable premium "loading" of about 40 per cent.

It might be proper to say that these three Bills are the result of many months of study by competent persons conversant with Compensation Insurance matters, and should receive the support of California industry. Employees, likewise, should see the advantage of reducing the high premiums being exacted from their employers, so that injured employees may receive as benefits, an increasing higher proportion of the money paid out for this kind of insurance.

L. H. Metzger, general manager of the Alaska Juneau Mining Co. at Juneau, Alaska, was a visitor in Nevada City Wednesday, a guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Legg, who are old friends.

SPIESS HEADS TRAINING CAMP IN NEV. COUNTY

Henry R. Spiess, Grass Valley, has been appointed the Military Training Camps Association representative for Nevada county. He will be in charge of the association's activities in enrolling suitable young men for the 1937 Citizens' Military Training Camps.

"Citizens' Military Training Camps are doing exceedingly valuable work developing the young manhood of the nation, and in building and strengthening the character of our citizenship," according to Mr. Spiess in commenting on his appointment. "I am happy to be chosen to offer this opportunity to the young men of my county. The training teaches teamwork and consideration for others, and the outdoor sports and regular living s beneficial to the trainee mentally and morally as well as physically."

Citizens' Military Training camps are held annually at the presidio of Monterey, Fort Winfield Scott and Fort MacArthur. This year they will be held from July 1 to 30.

For information concerning the Citizens' Military Training camps, write to the C. M. T. C. enrollment officer at either of the above army stations, or to the county representative.

Evangeline Chapter O. E. S. Entertains

Evangeline Chapter, O. E. S. delightfully entertained their visiting Deputy Grand Matron Elizabeth Lester Tuesday evening in Masonic Hall. The beautiful ritualistic work of the order was exemplified in a most impressive manner the visiting officer complimenting them on their work. Mrs. C. E. Bosworth sweetly sang a solo just before the initiatory degree was put on.

Under good of the order Worthy Patron Joseph Stenger presided. Mrs. Nellie Mitchell of Grass Valley made a most gracious talk, for as she expressed it her mother lodge, Evangeline Chapter had assisted in the instituting of Aurora Chapter. Mrs. Bosworth sang another solo honoring the visiting grand officer after which the five star points presented a lovely gift of a jeweled electric lamp and a wreath of daffodils and fern in the shape of a horseshoe, token of good luck. Mrs. Beverley Barron made the graceful presentation.

Attention was called to public school week sponsored by the Masons and to be held during the week of April 16. Bethany Chapter of Colfax invited appointive officers to a special service in the near future.

Aurora Chapter of Grass Valley also extended an invitation to star points for Star Point Night, May 3. The Nevada Lodge of Masons of this city has arranged for a dance and party to be held in the hall in the near future and invited the chapter members to be their guests for the evening. A dainty luncheon was served at the close of the meeting. A St. Patrick decorative theme was carried out. Tiny pipes, Irish derbies, and shamrock leaves were used as motifs, favors being tiny fireworks in tubes wrapped in fringed green crepe paper and carrying a jolly verse and tiny remembrances. A profusion of jonquils and ferns were used on the attractively arranged tables.

Charivari for Newly Weds in Camptonville

CAMPTONVILLE, March 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Meggers were tendered an old fashioned charivari Monday evening at their home at the forest service headquarters here. The couple were married in December in Chicago, but Mrs. Meggers, who was engaged in educational work in Iowa, could not come here until a few days ago.

The people of the town gathered, and with all sorts of noise making contraptoins gave the couple a grand serenade. Overcome with the strains of the tin can melodies the couple invited the serenaders in and were tendered refreshments. Everyone had a good time. Outstanding story of the evening was Ralph Gleasons capture of the cub bear.

Meggers is the district ranger of the Camptonville district of the Tahoe National Forest.

A yellow and green color scheme created a beautiful effect in the cosy rooms. Green candles, candy cups as flowers and motifs were on the prettily appointed table. Fancy work and a social time were enjoyed.
